PREFACE
TO THE THIRD EDITION.

THIS, the third edition of the Register, will be found to do something more than bring the information contained in its predecessors up to date ; for it contains a good deal of additional matter about the Harrovians of 1800.

The delay in its appearance is due to a sad cause. Mr. M. G. Daughlish, the late Editor, died in February of this year, while he was actively engaged in preparing this new edition for the press. His valuable services were lost to us just as his labours were nearing completion ; and Harrow has to mourn a loved and trusted son.

The present edition has been brought out by his successor, Mr. P. K. Stephenson, to whom, as well as to Mr. E. Graham, the warmest thanks of Harrovians are due. Unfortunately, our new Editor has already been forced to resign his task, having been appointed to a post in Melbourne, and another Editor has had to be found. We think ourselves happy that we have been able to secure Mr. Lionel M. Hewlett to take the vacant place.

It will be a matter of interest, we think, to many that this edition should be the first undertaken for the Harrow Association. There would seem to be a peculiar fitness in the linking together of the Harrow Register and the Harrow Association, the two agencies which can most help to unite the present with the past, and make Harrovians feel their "times are one" till "time be done."

HARROW, November 1911.

NOTE BY THE EDITOR
TO THE THIRD EDITION.

CONSIDERABLE difficulty has attended the production of this edition of the Register, the sudden death of Mr. M. G. Daglish, in February last, having necessarily delayed publication for several months. For various reasons it has taken me longer than originally anticipated to pick up the threads and revise my predecessor's work.

A good many names and facts of interest about the Harrovians of the beginning of the last century, collected by Mr. Daglish since the last edition appeared, have been incorporated in the early part of the book. It was Mr. Daglish's intention to carry his researches still further back into the past. He had indeed started to do so, and, had he lived, would have, doubtless, succeeded in reconstructing for us much of the history of Harrow in still earlier times. It is much to be hoped that some other old Harrovian, endowed with similar enthusiasm and perseverance, may be found to carry on this work from the point where he left it.

The unavoidable delay in publication has made it possible to include in this edition all entries down to the present term (1911[3]), and to add a good deal of information concerning events of recent occurrence. But, apart from such necessary additions and alterations and the elimination of certain inconsistencies, the bulk of the work, including the Index, remains as its late Editor left it.

The term, as well as the year, of entry is printed at the top of each page—an improvement suggested by many subscribers to the former editions.

In the case of a large number of those who are still serving in the Army, no address is given, as the latest information can more readily be obtained from the monthly Army List.

I have every reason to believe that the Index is accurate, but thorough revision has been impossible in the time at my disposal. A note will be found at the head of the Index explaining the new method adopted by Mr. Dauglish for this edition in the case of altered and double names.

It is to be hoped that the utility of the new edition will more than compensate the many subscribers for the time they have had to wait for its appearance. The delay must have been even more prolonged had it not been for the great and prompt assistance always given me by the members of the Committee of the Harrow Association, to whom the Editor of the Register is now responsible. Even as it is, I am aware that certain errors remain which the necessity that publication should no longer be postponed, has prevented me from rectifying. I do not think, however, that such defects as may be discovered will be considered to impair the value of a book which in itself is all that is needed to testify to the care and ability of its late Editor, who devoted so much time and labour to a subject of which he had made himself such a complete master.

As soon as this edition is published, the editorship again changes hands, as I am shortly leaving England for business reasons, and am therefore obliged to resign my position. The new Editor is Mr. L. M. Hewlett, 27, Roxborough Park, Harrow, to whom all correspondence relating to the Register should in future be sent.

PREFACE
TO THE FIRST EDITION.

THE idea of publishing the Register of Harrow School originated with my colleagues, Mr. E. W. Howson and Mr. E. Graham, and has been carried out by Mr. R. Courtenay Welch. It has not been free from difficulty, for the Admission Book before the time of Dr. Longley has been lost for many years, and it is only since the beginning of Dr. Vaughan's Head Mastership that the record of boys admitted to the School can be said to be complete in all its details. The result is that, although an attempt has been made to carry the Register back to the first year of the present century, there are naturally a good many gaps in it; but it is hoped that the publication of a tentative first edition will be the best way of leading to a second edition, which will be largely improved and extended. At all events, the thanks of Harrovians past and present are due to Mr. Welch, and to other friends of the School who have worked with him. The Register will in future be reissued at stated intervals of time, and it will be kept as far as possible up to date in the information which it supplies.

TO THE SECOND EDITION.

SEVEN years have now elapsed since the publication of the first edition of the Register, and the time has now come when it seems necessary to bring the book up to the present date. The second edition will be found in many ways improved. In a first edition, which was largely tentative in character, many little mistakes and omissions were inevitable. It is hoped that the unselfish energy of many old Harrovians has removed the mistakes and supplied the omissions. The thanks of all Harrovians are due to Mr. Dauglish and to Mr. Graham for their unwearied efforts to make the Register as accurate and complete as it now is.

It is proposed to issue a new edition in the first year of every decade, and it will very greatly assist the Editor if all communications from time to time be addressed direct to

NOTE BY THE EDITOR
TO THE SECOND EDITION.

IN the spring of 1891 Mr. R. Courtenay Welch was entrusted by a Committee of the Masters of the School with the compilation of a Harrow School Register from the year 1801. In his editorial note to the first edition, Mr. Welch thus explains the difficulties of his task :—" The number of names to be dealt with was estimated at about 6,000, and little more was proposed than a reprint of the Entrance Books, with the addition of such particulars as could be derived from the various School Records, or obtained from living Harrovians and from the friends of those who had passed away. As the work advanced, however, it was found that the number of entries exceeded 10,000, while the difficulty of preparing the list was very greatly increased by the imperfections of the earlier records. Dr. Drury's Entrance Book gave only the surnames. The Entrance Book covering the period of Dr. George Butler's Head Mastership has long since disappeared, and the lists between the years 1805 and 1829 have been compiled . . . from the few Bill Books which are still extant. Dr. Longley's entries are more complete, the Christian names being given in full, the House Master mentioned, and short notes often added, which have proved most valuable in tracing the names. Dr. Wordsworth gave further particulars, the address and, in some cases, the father's name being mentioned. But there is reason to believe that in all these earlier lists the names were often entered before their owners actually joined the School, and this seems especially to have been the case when two or more brothers, of very different ages, were entered together. Many names too have, undoubtedly, been altogether omitted. . . . From Dr. Vaughan's time the lists contain, in most cases, all the information necessary for such a work as the present, though it has not always been easy to determine whether the name of the father or guardian is given."

These difficulties led to a considerable delay in the publication of the book, which ultimately appeared in the summer of 1894. The success of the Register and the interest it aroused fully came up to the expectations of all concerned, and has naturally resulted in the acquirement of much additional information as to old Harrovians.

Unfortunately the missing Entry Book of 1805-1829 has not been traced, and is probably now irrevocably lost. But several more Bill Books of those years have been kindly lent to me, and the publication by Mr. Bushell in the Harrovian of the names cut up in the Fourth Form Room has enabled me to fill up many gaps. At least 100 fresh names have been collected from these and other sources.

It is felt that the time has now fully come for the appearance of a new and revised edition, incorporating all this extra matter and bringing the Register generally up to date. The present Editor, who took up the work when the pressure of other duties compelled Mr. Welch's retirement, can only say that he has done his best (he hopes not unsuccessfully) to remedy the necessary imperfections of the former issue.

At the beginning of the book will be found a list of the School as it stood in October 1800, thus enabling me to include (subject to the necessary reservations) the name of every boy who was at Harrow during the nineteenth century. For this list I am indebted to the kindness of the Misses Oxenham, daughters of the well-known Harrow Master.

One word as to omissions. The seven years which have elapsed since 1893 necessitate the insertion of the names of more than 1,000 boys who have since entered the School. To keep the book within reasonable compass, certain appendices previously given are omitted. These can all be found in the annual Harrow Almanacks. In their place will be found a list of the consecution of the Boarding Houses since 1800, which I trust may prove of interest.

To all who have helped me, and especially to the Masters of the School, I return my sincerest thanks. Their names are too numerous to mention; but I cannot pass over that of Mr. Graham, whose help and sympathy have been invaluable.

I am not without hope that in the future we may carry our researches further back, so as to include the names of Harrow boys previous to 1800.
